SEER FARMS

"Keeping Animals Safe and Families Together"

Seer Farms is a 501(c)(3) organization that runs an animal sanctuary set on 3 acres in Jackson, NJ. It was established to provide families like mine with a way of staying together when they fall on hard times. When foreclosure, domestic violence, divorce, military service, natural disaster, or medical crises interrupt a family's ability to care for its pets, the pets can come to Seer Farms and get a temporary home. While these animals stay here, their families can work out their situations, and then reclaim the pets.

PURPOSE OF THE PET FESTIVAL

On September 17, 2011, Coalition for Animals (CFA) and Seer Farms are hosting a Pet Festival fundraiser. Proceeds from this fun-oriented family event will be used to assist pet owners with veterinary and other costs required to take care of their companion animals. Due to the current financial crisis, many families are encountering difficulty keeping their families intact. This event will provide financial support to CFA's subsidiary groups and Seer Farms towards their efforts to help deserving families. animals in their homes, as well as rescued, abandoned, and surrendered animals. All animal protection groups and caring individuals are invited to join us at our second annual jointly-hosted fundraiser.
